BIOGRAPHY

Pamela Dumont's practice focuses on trust and estate administration and estate and tax planning, including generational wealth planning, as well as estate and business succession planning for family and small business owners.

Pam particularly enjoys working with high net worth individuals and families to help them develop and implement tax saving strategies. She helps her clients dissect complicated integrated privately held business interests to develop succession plans keeping in mind special family situations. Together with a team of experienced estate administration paralegals, Pam has been able to navigate the estate administration process to help beneficiaries achieve significant tax savings.
